

Educational Projects

Schools

of today are complicated structures, intended not only for teaching, but also as environments for technology, community, safety and inspiration. NJB Architects have over 25 years experience designing new schools and updating existing facilities.

